

Good Samaritan Hospital: Overcome Pain and Get Back in the Game

Thanks to tremendous progress in orthopedic science, joint replacement has become an option for a growing number of people who now live with daily pain and immobility. The strong, long-lasting materials used in knee, hip and shoulder replacements stand up to the rigors of an active, even athletic, lifestyle.

Age doesn't have to be a barrier to orthopedic surgery - joint replacements are not unusual for people under 50, and new surgical techniques also make replacement a viable choice for those over 50. Patients in the Dayton, Ohio, region are turning to the award-winning orthopedic program at Good Samaritan Hospital to help them overcome debilitating joint pain.

"Good Samaritan's orthopedic surgeons are redefining traditional joint replacement with minimally invasive techniques and computer-assisted alignment methods for precise placement and faster healing," explains Dennis Brown, M.D., Good Samaritan

Hospital Joint Replacement Center. "These practices help limit the impact of surgery on your body, so you experience less discomfort and can more quickly get back to the business of living."

Helping Good Samaritan Hospital secure top rankings in overall orthopedics from HealthGrades[®], an independent quality monitoring organization, are these excellent area surgeons:

Bone and Joint Surgeons, Inc.

Shellie Powell, M.D.
Tim Peters, D.O.
Fred Reeve, M.D.
Britt Wells, M.D.
Phone: 937-836-3118

Dayton Orthopedic Center, Inc.

Abdolali Elmi, M.D.
Phone: 937-836-4042

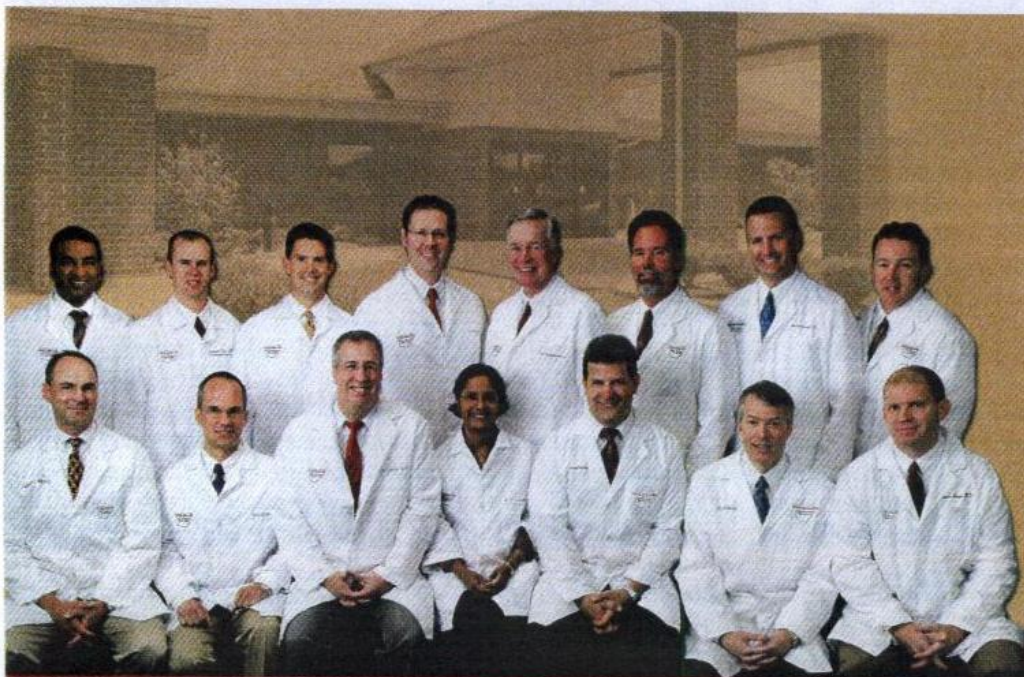

Montgomery Orthopedic Surgeons

Homayoun Mesghali, M.D.
Dennis Brown, M.D.
James Klosterman, D.O.
Thomas Cook, D.O.
Phone: 937-278-4784

Orthopaedic Institute of Ohio

The Orthopaedic Institute of Ohio and the Institute for Orthopaedic Surgery form a world-class orthopaedic treatment center dedicated to providing personalized care to patients with musculoskeletal injuries and disorders. With fifteen Board Certified Physicians, six Physician Assistants, and more than 200 healthcare professionals, our skilled teams provide the highest quality of care as evidenced by our superior patient satisfaction scores. In addition, our physicians are continually applying the newest and most advanced techniques, giving our patients a variety of choices for their orthopaedic care. The physicians at the Orthopaedic Institute of Ohio specialize in: spine surgery, surgery of the hand and upper extremities, total joint replacement and revisions, foot and ankle surgery, sports medicine, trauma and rehabilitation and pain management.

To learn more about the comprehensive orthopaedic care and treatments at the Orthopaedic Institute of Ohio, please visit www.orthoohio.com or call (800) 225-3921 toll free for an appointment.

Our physicians specialize in:

- Spine Surgery
- Hand and Upper Extremities
- Total Joint Replacement and Revisions
- Sports Medicine
- Foot and Ankle Surgery
- Trauma
- Rehabilitation & Pain Management

Your First Choice For Orthopaedic Care.

Lima, Ohio 45804
800-225-3921
www.orthoohio.com